DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to applicant's communication filed on November 30, 2006.
2. Claims 1-6, 15-18 and 28-31 are cancelled. Claims 7-27 and 32-37 are pending.

Objection to Specification

3. The amendment filed 01/26/2006 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: "sub-account to have greater access to the digital media content than the main account".

Applicant is required to cancel the new matter in the reply to this Office Action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 7-14, 19-27 and 32-37 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. In particular, claims 1 and 19 teach "sub-accounts not being limited to a subset of the controlled access to the digital media content of said main account"; claim 36 teaches sub-account to have greater access to the digital media content than the main account". These two steps are not supported/disclosed in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 7-14, 19-27 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Goode et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6163272) (hereinafter referred to as Goode).

Re Claim 7, 19, 36 and 37: Goode teaches a system for controlling access to digital media content by a user, the system comprising: a database for storing main accounts and sub-accounts required to access the digital media content, at least one of said main accounts being linked to at least one of said sub-accounts (col. 5, lines 59-64); and a computer processor programmed to selectively restrict access to the digital media content by said main accounts and said sub-accounts (col. 2, lines 60-63), said computer processor being programmed to permit at least one of said main accounts to control access to the digital media content available to said main account and one or more sub-accounts associated with said main account (col. 5, lines 36-49), the controlled access to the digital media content of said one or more associated sub-accounts not being limited to a subset of the controlled access to the digital media content of said main account (col. 2, lines 60-63; col. 5, line 59- col. 6, line 6).

Re Claims 8, 23, 24 and 32: Goode teaches the step wherein said processor restricts access to the digital media content according to selected spending limits; wherein said spending limit is imposed on a time-based value (col. 2, lines 61-63).

Re Claim 9 and 33: Goode teaches the step wherein said processor restricts access to the digital media content according to a type of content; wherein the type of content is based on a genre of at least one of video and audio media (col. 2, lines 21-23 and col. 5, lines 27-30).

Re Claim 10 and 26: Goode teaches the step wherein said processor restricts access to the digital media content in accordance with a rating system (col. 2, lines 56-60).

Re Claim 11 and 25: Goode teaches the step wherein said processor restricts access to the digital media content according to viewing times (col. 2, lines 56-60).

Re Claim 12 and 21: Goode teaches the step wherein said processor is programmed to permit an account holder of one of the accounts to selectively restrict access to the sub-accounts linked to the account (col. 5, line 59- col. 6, line 6).

Re Claim 11, 34 and 35: Goode teaches step wherein the digital media content is offered though a subscription service, one of said account holders being a subscriber to said subscription service; wherein the subscriber is a commercial entity (col. 4, lines 17-19).

Re Claim 20: Goode teaches the step wherein said step of imposing restrictions includes the sub-step of imposing restrictions selectively among the primary account and the sub-account (col. 2, lines 15-23).

Re claim 22: Goode teaches the step of obtaining information about the sub-account holder (col. 5, lines 41-49)

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

Art Unit: 3691

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 13, 14 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Goode et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6163272) in view of Lotvin et al. (U. S. Patent No. 6178407) (hereinafter referred to as Lotvin).

Re claims 13, 14 and 27: Goode is as discussed above. Goode does not explicitly teach the steps wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the spending habits of the viewers using the accounts and wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the viewing habits of the viewers using the accounts. Lotvin teaches steps wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the spending habits of the viewers using the accounts and wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the viewing habits of the viewers using the accounts (col. 9, lines 5-21). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to modify Goode to include the steps wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the spending habits of the viewers using the accounts and wherein said processor is adapted to generate a report of the viewing habits of the viewers using the accounts as taught by Lotvin so that such report can be analyzed for statistical purposes.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 11/30/2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

With regards to the 35 U.S.C. 112 (1st paragraph) rejection, applicant cited page 6, line 24 through page 7, line 1; page 7, lines 7-9, in the specification as support for the limitations "sub-accounts not being limited to a subset of the controlled access to the digital media content of said main account" and "... sub-account to have greater access to the digital media content than the main account..." . Examiner respectfully disagrees. Specifically, the disclosure teaches, "viewing restriction may be established for the HoH account as a whole, or selectively amongst family members account and/or the HoH account". It is unclear how one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of invention would reasonably interpret "viewing restriction may be established for the HoH account as a whole, or selectively amongst family members account and/or the HoH account" as sub account having greater access than the HoH account. Furthermore, the succeeding examples in the disclosure do not teach or suggest this feature. Examiner broadly interprets this limitation simply as establishing viewing restriction for the HoH that is different from the restriction for the sub account. Consequently, this rejection is hereby maintained.

Examiner asserts that the Goode reference teaches these limitations at col. 5, line 59- col. 6, line 6.

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
